ARTICLE GUIDELINES

The Review of European Affairs is a biannual (2 issues per year), open access and internationally peer-reviewed journal. The journal is published by the Polish European Community Studies Association (PECSA). All articles are subject to initial evaluation by the Editorial Board in terms of their compliance with the thematic profile of the journal. The texts after passing this verification are then subjected to a double-blind review. The Editorial Board makes the final decision regarding the publication of each article based on the reviews. The language of the articles is English or Polish. The Review of European Affairs will be identified by an International Standard Serial Number (ISSN). All the articles will be freely available online upon publication. They will be published under the liberal Creative Commons Attribution 3.0 Unported License (CC-BY). The author will hold the copyright and retain publishing rights without restrictions. Articles will be published on the website of the journal, and may be distributed to other online repositories, or the author's pages. In order to improve visibility of the published work, the journal will be indexed and abstracted in multiple academic repositories and search engines. The journal editors will share announcements, news and related articles about the topic of the journal in social media (i.a. Facebook).

Criteria for Publication

The submitted articles should represent a substantial advance in the particular field within the scope of the journal in terms of originality of either research or outlook on the described matter; importance to the researchers in the field; and interest for readers and researchers outside the field.

The Scope of the Journal

The Review of European Affairs welcomes articles meeting the thematic profile of the journal, which includes studies on: conceptual and case-study driven approaches to current developments in the EU, advances in diverse fields of the EU policymaking, values and principles in the EU integration process, safety and security in the EU, economic performance of the EU member-states and of the EU as 'European economic space', the single market and its integrative potential, cultural relations, external relations of the EU, EU as a global actor, integration process in the world from the European perspective.

Anti-Plagiarism

The publisher and journal have a policy of "Zero Tolerance on the Plagiarism" and the articles may be checked with anti-plagiarism software, on top of human verification. If plagiarism or duplication is detected, the author(s) will be immediately notified and depending on its scope, their article may be immediately rejected, or sent back for revision of the contested fragment if the results are inconclusive. If plagiarism or duplication is detected after publication of the article, the Editorial Board reserves the right to issue a correction or to retract the published article.

Open Access

The journal follows the principle of open access, that is making research freely available to the public to support global exchange of knowledge. The Review of European Affairs is a fully open access journal, and what follows is that all articles are freely available, ensuring worldwide dissemination of content. All of the published material can be re-used without obtaining permission given that a correct citation to the original publication is provided.

Double-blind peer-review

The Review of European Affairs is a peer-reviewed journal, meaning that all articles are examined by researchers with appropriate credentials in the relevant field of study before publication. Articles are subjects to initial editorial screening in terms of alignment with the thematic scope of the journal and anonymous peer-review by two reviewers who are selected by the editors. The reviewers advise the Editorial Board on the merit of the submitted work and may suggest a set of revisions required before the article may be published. This journal operates a closed peer-review process, meaning that reviewers do not know author details and at the same time remain anonymous to the author. The Review of European Affairs follows double-blind peer-review policy strictly.

Copyright information

- All materials are published under an open-access license that grants authors permanent ownership of their work. Thus, the authors retain copyright and grant the journal right of first publication with the work which is simultaneously licensed under a Creative Commons Attribution 3.0 Unported License. This license allows others to share the work with an acknowledgement of the work's authorship and initial publication in this journal.
- To aid the dissemination of knowledge, enable earlier and greater citation and to initiate productive exchanges the authors are encouraged to share their work online prior to and during the submission process with the provision that:
  - pre-prints are shared only on author server or institutional server;
  - post-prints are shared on author's personal website, departmental website, employer's website or institutional repository.
- Published source must be acknowledged.
- By submitting the article to The Review of European Affairs the authors imply that the work described has not been published before and that it is not under consideration for publication elsewhere.
- The journal editors, reviewers and publisher are not responsible for any possible violations of existing copyright in articles published in the journal – all responsibility is on the authors of those articles. On top of this, the journal or publisher is not responsible for subsequent uses of the work. It is the author's responsibility to bring an infringement action if such action is desired.
